Anthony Byrnes is a producer, educator, critic, and arts administrator based in Los Angeles. He has served as the Producer and General Manager for The Shakespeare Center of Los Angeles (SCLA), founding Artistic Director of Burning Wheel & the Umbrella Company, weekly columnist on KCRW, Director of Cultural Relations for the University of Southern California, and Associate Producer of New Play Development for Center Theatre Group. He received an MFA from CalArts and a B.A. from the University of Pennsylvania.

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

2012 - present THE SHAKESPEARE CENTER LOS ANGELES (SCLA) Producer, General Manager

Anthony produces SCLA's outdoor summer production as well as the Center's annual Simply Shakespeare benefit led by Tom Hanks and Rita Wilson. As part of the company's Veterans in Arts initiative, he designed and managed the 600-seat outdoor temporary amphitheater in the Japanese Garden at the West LA Veterans Administration.

As General Manager, Anthony is responsible for the financial, operational, and production management of the company and its $1.5 million budget. When Anthony began with the company they were reporting an annual deficit in excess of ($200k). Through careful management of expenses and maximizing fundraising opportunities, Anthony was able to report a budget surplus for their most recent audited fiscal year of $140k.

2007 - 2009 UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA Director of Cultural Relations

Served as the liaison between the University of Southern California and the Los Angeles arts community. Oversaw the creation, development and implementation of the USCArts website, which provides a unified portal for the five arts schools and the cultural offerings of Los Angeles and the university. The site resulted in usc.edu/arts becoming a top level domain at the university. Responsibilities included curation of Experience LA! as part of the University's Visions & Voices arts and humanities initiative. Experience LA! brought USC students to existing cultural events throughout Los Angeles. Conceived of as a way of promoting artistic engagement, cultural literacy and encouraging the next generation of arts patrons, the program drew from across the university's diverse undergraduate and graduate student body. Each event was designed to contextualize the work of art with either pre-show lecture or post-show discussion with the artist or an expert in the field. Events ranged from the Wooster Group's Hamlet at Redcat, ABT's Swan Lake, to Los Angeles's 99-seat theater community, walking tours of Los Angeles architecture focusing on the work of Thom Mayne and Frank Gehry, Agamemnon at the Getty Villa, Danny Hoch at the Kirk Douglas Theater, Esa Pekka Salonen's final concert at Disney Hall, and the opening of the Broad Contemporary Art Museum (BCAM) at LACMA.

1997 - 2005 CENTER THEATER GROUP (CTG) - Mark Taper Forum & Kirk Douglas Theatre (KDT) Associate Producer of New Play Development Project Director, Kirk Douglas Theater Project & Ivy Substation

Associate Producer of New Play Development

As Associate Producer of New Play Development for Center Theatre Group, Anthony produced and managed the Taper, Too New Work Festival as well as play development activities at the Kirk Douglas Theatre, Ivy Substation, the evidENCE room, and the Actor's Gang from 1999 to 2005. During his tenure, Anthony produced, coordinated, and oversaw over 100 productions, workshops, and readings of new work for the theatre.

Project Director, Kirk Douglas Theater Project & Ivy Substation

In addition to producing work for CTG, Anthony served as the Project Director for the renovation of both the IVY SUBSTATION and the KIRK DOUGLAS THEATRE. From 2001 to 2003, Anthony oversaw the $450,000 renovation of the Ivy Substation in partnership with the Culver City Redevelopment Agency. The project consisted of architectural modifications to an existing theatre/community center to adapt it into a functional 99-seat theatre with full accessibility.

The plan, generated by Anthony Byrnes with Steven Ehrlich Architects, consisted of several permanent and semi-permanent additions to enhance the aesthetic, functional, and performative aspects of the space.

For the KIRK DOUGLAS THEATER, Anthony stewarded a $12.1 million adaptive re-use of a 1947 streamline moderne movie theatre in the heart of Culver City from the 'back of a napkin' sketch through successful delivery, on-time and on-budget, of a state-of-the-art 317-seat theatre in the heart of Culver City's burgeoning redevelopment zone. Anthony began working on the project in 1997 during its early conceptual stage. As the project progressed, Anthony shepherded the project through all stages leading initial budgeting and programming studies, the architect selection process, and design development with Theatre Projects Consultants and Steven Ehrlich Architects. He negotiated the Disposition and Development Agreement and Lease Agreements with Culver City, and finally, during the construction phase served as project coordinator and daily representative for CTG. Upon completion, Anthony was responsible for day-to-day Operations and Production creating and managing a staff of 50 full- and part-time employees and designing both the operational model and budgets for the institution. He produced the inaugural season of five world premieres at the new theatre.

Anthony worked closely with board member, Ron Arnault, Managing Director, Charles Dillingham, and Artistic Director, Gordon Davidson throughout all phases of the project.

RELATED EXPERIENCE

2010 - present

Theatre Critic

Opening the Curtain* - KCRW 89.9 FM

•2011 NEA Arts Journalism Fellow

Host of the weekly radio column Opening the Curtain for KCRW. Airing weekly during NPR's All Things Considered, and available for podcast through iTunes, the show focuses on the theater of Los Angeles and Southern California with the aim to not only provide a critical voice for the theatre community but also highlight the trends and issues that the community confronts. Past shows are available at kcrw.com/theater. KCRW is Southern California's leading National Public Radio affiliate reaching 550,000 listeners weekly.

2006 - 2013

Producer

USC Under Construction Play Festival

Produced and managed annual festival featuring the work of graduating MFA playwrights from the University of Southern California. The two-week festival, which yields three to four original scripts each year, employs professional directors and actors to bring the plays to life in readings for a public audience.

2003 - 2014

Teacher

Los Angeles County High School for the Arts (LACHSA)

Anthony has been dedicated to training emerging and established performing artists in the theater community since 1998. Anthony teaches two forms of movement training - the Suzuki Method of Actor Training and the Viewpoints - as well as acting, and text analysis to the senior class at Los Angeles County's public art conservatory. The senior class comprises approximately 40 students each year.

In addition to his ongoing position at the Los Angeles County High School for the Arts (LACHSA), Anthony has held numerous teaching engagements across Southern California including: Loyola Marymount University, California State University Northridge, California State University Fullerton, California Institute of the Arts, Crossroads School, Harvard Westlake, Mayfield Senior School and Director's Lab West.
